The programme is complemented by self-organised formats across the city: in previous years, up to 91 satellite locations participated throughout Berlin – from showrooms and studios to galleries and pop-up spaces. Participants showcase their work in their own locations or at one of the festival's design spots. All contributions are featured in the official programme, festival catalogue and press cloud.

"Four days, four formats – each bringing DESIGN REAL to life in its own way," says Festival Director Alexandra Klatt. "We are creating a framework that works for every discipline."
